Purpose / Summary:

In 2012 the Prosperous Communities Committee established a task and finish group to examine how “open for business” the council was and to make recommendations on how it could become more open to business through the services it delivers, the support it offers to businesses and how it procures goods and services.

Also in 2012/13 the Council asked a “best practice” Economic Development Council to peer review the service it offered. As part of that review the Council’s interaction with local businesses was assessed. This process and the recommendations it made will replace one of the final steps in the work of the Open for Business working group.

The report outlines the work carried out so far and the conclusions reached; it also makes recommendations on the next steps.

RECOMMENDATION(S):

5.4 That the Challenge and Improvement Committee hold a workshop with its members to:

- 1. Review the work of the group to assess whether it has met its original brief and to identify any gaps that need to be filled.
- 2. Prioritise the matters identified by the Group and develop a SMART action plan for those matters identified as priorities
- 3. Report the conclusions of this workshop to a further meeting of the Prosperous Communities Committee with recommendations.

IMPLICATIONS

Legal: If procurement processes need to be reviewed then that will need to be done in the context of current procurement regulations.

Financial: Changing what the council charges for services which impact upon local businesses will have a financial effect. The precise impact of this will depend on the views members take on the recommendations in the report.

Staffing :None

Equality and Diversity including Human Rights :
The report is set at a high level and seeks to examine how the council can make itself open for business to all businesses irrespective of whom they serve. The successful implementation of any recommendations it makes should benefit all sectors of the community.

Risk Assessment : Low

Climate Related Risks and Opportunities: By increasing local employment opportunities by being more open to the expansion of local businesses and encouraging inward investment the recommendations have the potential to reduce the need to travel by those seeking working thereby reducing carbon emissions.

Executive Summary

- 1.1 The Open for Business task and finish Group was set up in 2012 to examine how business friendly the council is in the way it delivers its services, how it supports businesses, whether it offers relief to businesses operating in its area and how good it is at procuring goods and services from local businesses.
- 1.2 It set about this task by agreeing its scope and deciding the key action actions it needed to take in order to address its brief. These included:
 - Questioning council heads of service about the services they manage and how they ensure they are business friendly
 - Meeting key local businesses
 - Learning from national best practice.
- 1.3 Actions one and two have been completed and the conclusions drawn from them are set out in the report. Action three was more difficult as it proved impossible to find a representative national best practice provider who was willing to attend a meeting of the group. However through contacts the council has, Hinckley and Bosworth Borough Council were invited to carry out a peer review of the way the council delivers its economic development and regeneration activities. Whilst this was a wide ranging review (with recommendations) it addresses the question of how open for business the council is. Therefore the conclusions of the peer review have been used, where they are relevant to the open for business question, and are set out in the report.
- 1.4 The council has a wide ranging and significant influence on how the District is perceived as being “open for business”. This influence ranges from how attractive it makes its town centres, through the approach it adopts to car parking charges (although car parking charges did not feature in the comments received from businesses) to how it attracts inward investment from national and international companies.
- 1.5 The principal themes emerging from the work carried out are divided into short term /operational and long term strategic. More work needs to be carried out by the Challenge and Improvement Committee to assess the work in terms of: whether they have enough information in order to make recommendations on those areas which should be altered to make the council more open to business (are there any gaps which the Committee would like to see addressed); and if they consider they have sufficient information to advise the Prosperous Communities Committee on the priority which should be given to the matters which have been identified. This report has not sought to priorities the matters identified as this is something members need to consider.

1.6 The short term/operational matters that are emerging from the work carried out so far are:

- Consider offering free planning advice to businesses
- Consider how the council can help businesses with marketing
- Consider how the council can offer direct business advice – rather than simply sign posting
- Consider how the council can offer direct support for training
- Consider how the council can offer discounts on NNDR and in what circumstances
- Consider how the council could pump prime direct investment in projects
- Consider how the procurement and tendering processes at the council could be improved to make them more business friendly
- Consider how documents could be improved to make them more accessible (use of plain English)
- Consider streamlining how businesses contact the council (such as a single point of contact)
- Consider how the council can promote local skills and training providers to local businesses.

1.7 The long term/strategic matters that are emerging from the work carried out so far are:

- Consider improving the strategic road network
- Consider improving broadband speeds within the District
- Consider the development of business/manufacturing start up units in the District
- Consider how the skills of the workforce could be improved
- Consider developing a tourism strategy and greater support for tourism
- Ensure all council resources are aligned to support businesses and business growth
- Consider developing a marketing and inward investment strategy - highlighting the advantages and the District as a place to do business – using a development prospectus approach
- Consider developing a Business Form/Employment and skills partnership with local businesses
- Consider streamlining decision making on key economic decisions.

4.0 Peer Review Findings – In Relation to “Open For Business”

4.1 The original brief for the Group included a session with members to explore “best practice” nationally. Efforts were made to contact best practice councils through representational bodies and known contacts. However it did not prove possible to attract sufficient interest to run a session in West Lindsey.

4.2 Through other contacts officers visited Hinckley and Bosworth Borough Council to assess their approach to economic development and regeneration. It was clear that the council had a proactive approach to regeneration in the borough and had achieved notable successes in recent years. As a result of these contacts the Director responsible of economic development and growth at Hinckley and Bosworth agreed to conduct a “peer review” of this council’s approach to these areas.

4.3 The peer review was undertaken by the Deputy Chief Executive (Community Direction) of Hinckley and Bosworth Borough Council. It was a wide ranging review of the Economic Development and Growth Service. However there were recommendations in the review which specifically related to how open for business is the council. These recommendations are set out below:

- “Tourism is important to members of the Council and local businesses need to develop a Tourism Strategy which sets out how the Council will work with the industry and engage visitor attractions to ensure that it is supported.

- Need stronger alignment at corporate level to support growth and the Departmental contributions
- Need to develop a marketing and inward investment prospectus which highlights the key selling points of the District – schools, environment etc.
- Lack of internal and external awareness of the economic development strategy – need for a marketing campaign for the strategy
- Need to working in partnership with local businesses to develop projects – the council doesn't need to do everything itself
- Priorities for growth and supporting businesses need to be clear and concentrated on
- Establish a District wide Business Forum/Employment and Skills Partnership
- Need to improve decision making on key economic initiatives – town centre development
- Promote local skills and training providers
- Need to improve response times when major opportunities arise
- Be more proactive in keeping members/public informed of key regeneration projects”
